COMPUTER CLUB MEETING---The April meeting of the Goddard Computer Club will be held in the building 3 auditorium Thursday April 23rd starting at 11:45 am. Featured will be a talk on the computer language PASCAL by Howard Lefkowitz, an active member of the PASCAL special interest group (SIG) of the Washington Apple Pi (a 600 member computer club). He will explain what PASCAL does, how it differs from BASIC, what it's advantages are, and when it is used. There will also be a demonstration of some typical programs using PASCAL.

Everyone is welcome to attend this meeting. Dues for the club are $10.00 per year and will entitle a member to use a complete microcomputer setup to be purchased by the club early this summer.
